Katie began her career at the Bar as a criminal defence practitioner but now specialises in sports and regulatory law.

As a result of her experience and skill as an advocate, Katie is particularly in demand when matters reach the adversarial stage of proceedings. However, she is equally happy to advise from the earliest stages of a case.

Katie accepts instructions from sports governing bodies as well as individuals and teams. When not representing clients she sits as a member of the Leicestershire Rugby Union Disciplinary Committee (LRU) and is a Chair on the Football Association's County level 'Anti-discrimination in Football' panels. She is a Disciplinary Officer for the Amateur Swimming Association (ASA). She also represents the RFU in disciplinary hearings and is on the England Netball list of disciplinary Counsel.
